were taken up and passed; after which action was had on THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The pending question was on Mr. Borland's amendment, regulating the selection of newspapers in which the laws and public advertisements shall hereafter be published.

Messrs. Badger. Mangum, Hamlin and Davis opposed the amendment, though approving of its general principle, and urged its withdrawal for the present.

Mr. Borland, (dem.) of Ark., defended the amendment, jut subsequently withdrew it.

The question again reverted to the amendment, increasing the compensation to the Collins line of steamers.

Mr. Borland renewed the point of order raised by him several days ago, that this amendment, not being in pursuance of any estimate from the department, was not in order, as an amendment to the Appropriation bill.

The Chairs submitted the question to the Senate for its decision.

The Chair submitted the question to the Senate for its decision.

Mr. Borland addressed the Senate several times, maintaining that the amendment was out of order, and was replied to by Messrs. Badeer, Hamily, Russ. Douglass. Gwin and Braddiny. The question was then taken—"is the amendment in order?" and was decided in the affirmative, as follows:—
YYAS.—Messrs. Badger. Bayard, Bell, Berrien, Braddury, Brooke, Clarke, Cooper, Davis, Dawson, Douglas, Downs, Geyer, Gwin, Hamiin, James, Jones of Tenn; Mangum, Miller, Norris, Rusk, Seward, Shields, Smith, Spruance, Sumner, Underwood, Upham and Wade.—29.
NAVS.—Messrs. Atchison, Borland, Brothead, Cass, Dodge, of Wisconsin, Dodge, of Iows, Hunter, Jones, of Iowa, Mason, Morton, Sebastian and Walker.—12.

The bill was then postponed, and the Senate went into executive session, and subsequently adjourned.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL.

Mr. HOWER, (whig) of Md., said the legislation proposed by the bill is based on a new principle unknown to our librory, and calculated to say the foundation of our government, and if persevered in must result in the most deplorable consequences. These lands are the common property of the United States, and are hold for the general welfare. There were times when shadows of a different dectrine hung over our country, and when a portion of the people held that the States in which unoccupied lands lie were by right the owners of them; but happily this misapprehension has passed away. In his opinion, the tendency of the measure is to paralyze and retard, rather than facilitate, the settlement of the lands for a long time to come. The principle of the bill is based on the principle of gratuity, the only precedent for which is to be found in the history of the Roman republic, and which stares us in the face in its most formidable and revolting features. The giving a homestead of one hundred and sixly acres to every man would be but the entering wedge to a surrender of all the public lands. It is a true but trite saying, "We should be just, before we are generous"—have we no debts to pay? Are we impregnable against our enemies? Have we no rivals to compete with? The debt of the Mexican war is $62,000.000 for the conquest. $5,000,000 are due to the ereditors who have thronged the doors of Congress for the last fifty years, asking satisfaction for the French spollations—herides, there are ten to fifteen thousand private claimants asking for redress. We have unfinished fortifications, which require sixteen or twenty millions of dollars to finish them, which are essential to place this country in a position of equality with our natural enemy, if we have one. Let gentlemen look at England and France, and sak themselves whether we are secure. Will the strong arms and brave hearts of the yeomanry be a protection against the steam-navies of Europe? No, we must have fortifications, and anavy, armed at all points, and equal to the forces of the two nations he had named or the history of this republic may be written in two words in less than two years. Our oldest and most venerated statesmen tell us, "in time of peace, prepare for war." He also spoke of the duty of improving the western waters. When he had concluded his remarks, the committee rose,

The California Passage Tickets.—In the matter of George E. Hamilton, the agent of the steamship Keindeer, against whom a compisint had been made some few days ago for selling passage tickets for the said vessel, and ohmissed by the magistrate. Vesterday we saw a telegraphic dispatch from Capt Loper, of Philadelphia, directed to George E. Hamilton, in which was stated, that the steamship Reindeer would be ready and have steam up on Wednesday. Mr. Hamilton now ascertation he is ready to pay up all instalments due upon the said ship. Therefore it may be expected that in a day or two the Reindeer will be at this port and receive passengers. Mr. Hamilton goes on to Philadelphia this day for the purpose of making all the necessary arrangements. The holders of tickets sold by George E. Hamilton & Co. will stand now a very fair chance of obtaining a passage. They would do well to present their claims at the office of Hamilton and Co. in the building over the Ocean Bank. After all the excitement in reference to the sale of tickets, it is possible that the ticket holders will yet be secured. We hope it may be so.
